

Freshmen Elect Officers Today

By Bob Diegelman

Loyola's freshmen cast their ballot for their class officers today from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the lobby of the Student Center.

The offices which the freshmen will fill today are: President of the Class, Vice-President, Secretary, Treasurer and Student Council Representative.

The President of the Class is the Chief Executive of the class. He appoints an Executive Board which serves as the steering committee of the class. The President is also the presiding officer at all class meetings and Executive Board meetings. He also represents the interests of his class on the Student Council.

Vice-President

The Vice-President performs the duties of the President during the absence or incapacity of the latter. He is also responsible for other duties which the President might delegate to him.

The Secretary of the class is responsible for keeping the minutes of the class meetings and for maintaining the correspondence of the class. The Treasurer collects and dispenses class funds, while the Representative is primarily a legislative officer who holds a seat on the Student Council.

The candidates are: for President, Tom Keech, Mark Schroeder and Len Shinosky; for Vice-President, John Picciotto and Tom Wehner; for Secretary, Ron Frawley and John Cosden; for Student Council Representative, Jerry Smith and Frank Hilsher; and for Treasurer, Bill Davis and Bill Gray.

Seminar Features British Comedy

By John Caulfield

The Film Seminar will present the British comedy, "Our Man in Havana," next Friday, December 18, at 7:45 p.m. The film will be shown in Ruzicka Hall and will be followed by a discussion.

The film was released in 1960, and stars Alec Guinness, Burl Ives, Noel Coward, Ralph Richardson, and the late Ernie Kovacs.

Guinness plays a mild-mannered vacuum-cleaner salesman who suddenly finds himself in the British Secret Service. He had no spying experience and no understanding of his mission.

To solve the problem he sends his superiors phoney sketches of an imaginary military installation and ports of its imaginary activities. They take these reports very seriously and chaos ensues.

The acting is good throughout the entire cast. Time magazine said, "Funny Coward almost walks off with the show. The barroom scene in which he solicits Guinness for illegal purposes is a comic masterpiece."

TANGLED . . . Green and Gray President Bob Kammer and dance chairman Joe Kearney wonder how they got that way.

Debaters Plan Four Tournaments

By Joe Hooper

The Bellarmine Debating Society of Loyola College has scheduled its first four tournaments for the second semester.

Greyhound debaters will participate in tournaments at Morgan State College, Harvard University, Columbia University, and Yeshiva University.

Sophomores Phil Ershler, Al Seeber, Phil Pucher, and Dick Fleming will represent Loyola at Morgan and Yeshiva. Pucher and Fleming will participate in the Harvard and Columbia tournaments.

The society's won-loss record now stands at 8-10. In individual points, the top two varsity debaters are: Dick Fleming with 210 points in 11 debates for a 19.1 average; and Al Seeber with 142 points in 10 debates for a 14.2 average per debate.

Loyola, Notre Dame Hold Combined Mixer

By Tom Ackerman

Loyola College and the College of Notre Dame of Maryland will sponsor their first combined mixer tonight from 8:30 to 12 in the smoker of Notre Dame's Doyle Hall with music provided by the Tempests.

The admission will be fifty cents and refreshments will be free. Those attending will also be invited to help trim a Christmas tree.

John O'Shea, co-chairman of the affair, said, "Because of the large turnouts at the first mixers, we are now able to obtain an excellent band, the Tempests, without additional cost to the student."

In addition to Loyola and Notre Dame students, those from Mt. St. Agnes, Villa Julie, and the nursing schools of Bon Secours, Mercy, St. Agnes, and St. Joseph Hospitals are invited.

LEFT TO RIGHT . . . Wehner, Keech, Hilsher, Frawley, Gray, Smith, Davis, Cosden, Schroeder, Picciotto, and Shinosky.

5 Colleges Represented On Civil Rights Panel

By Dick Oare

Students from the Colleges of Notre Dame, Mt. St. Agnes, Johns Hopkins, Loyola and Catonsville Community College participated in a panel discussion at Notre Dame on Friday, December 4.

The panel discussed the pros and cons of the recently enacted civil rights law.

The nine speakers brought up many factors which had influence on the signing of the bill and other factors which discouraged Congressmen from voting for it.

Ronnie Walker of Notre Dame, discussed the nature of prejudice as evolved from psychological and environmental influences and attitudes. Arthur Curtis of Johns Hopkins voiced strong opposition to the forces of discrimination.

Representing Loyola in the first round, Dennis Keating gave a factual account of the reasons why he felt the bill was constitutional.

The highlight of the discussion was the talk by Negro Housing Council member, Walter Carter. He opined that discrimination in housing is foremost in a list of wrongs to the Negro. He also maintained that the advance of skilled labor has left the great majority of Negroes jobless and effectively segregated.

DISCRIMINATION . . . in public housing was emphasized by Walter Carter of the Negro Housing Council at Notre Dame last Friday.

G&G Christmas Dance To Feature Exotics

By Howard Murray

Loyola's Green and Grey Club will sponsor its annual Christmas Dance on Monday, December 28 from 9 p.m. 'til 1 a.m. in the Andrew White Student Center.

The Exotics will provide the musical entertainment. Although they have only made a few appearances in this area, they are well-known and very popular at the larger colleges along the East coast.

The dance chairman, Joe Kearney, has announced that the Green & Grey will sell only a limited number of tickets due to the limited space available in the cafeteria. Students can purchase tickets every Wednesday and Friday during the activity periods and at any time from class representatives. Price of the ticket is $3 per couple.

The following are ticket salesmen: seniors John Herrmann, Don Rohleder, Bob Kammer, and Bill Spence; Juniors Bob Diegelman, George Belz, Joe Kearney, and John Cantalupo; Sophomores Charlie Schleupner, Phil Lieske, and Bill Moeller, and Freshmen Mark Schroeder, Bob Kropfelder, Ron Frawley, and Dave Fink.

Students desiring to make table reservations should contact John O'Shea.

Decorations for the dance will include a huge Christmas tree with all the trimmings. Dress for the dance is informal and refreshments will be available for a small fee.

Due to the expectation of a large crowd, the Green and Grey Club urges the students to purchase their tickets early.

Half the profits from the dance will go to the missions, and the remaining money will go to the various school activities. The bulk of these latter profits will aid in building a score board on the athletic field for all outdoor sporting events. Last year's profits helped to buy typewriters for the Green and Grey, The GREYHOUND and the Evergreen annual.

Dr. Wm. Kinter Publishes Outline

By Roy Aumiller

Dr. William L. Kinter, Associate Professor of English, has recently published his second comprehensive outline in the Harvard Outline Series, entitled, "The Major Poems of T.S. Eliot."

Dr. Kinter's aim is to achieve in the briefest space possible a survey of seven of Eliot's works, including "The Wasteland," "Murder in the Cathedral" and "The Four Quartets."

The text opens with some biographical notes and continues by giving each poem a concise introduction, a thorough outline, and a detailed criticism.

Dr. Kinter's other outline is concerned with Dante's "Inferno" and the "Divine Comedy." Available in January will be his analysis of "Beowulf." He intends to use these books in his courses, and they will be sold in the campus shop.

Jonathan Williams Spoke Wednesday

By Jack Sweeney

Jonathan Williams, a noted modern poet, who describes himself as a "postbeat," presented readings of his poetry at Loyola last Wednesday.

His main reading was held in Xavier Lounge at 12 o'clock.

Mr. Williams is the founder of Jargon Press. He has published over fifty books including the works of Robert Duncan, Henry Miller and Sherwood Anderson.

His poetry includes comments on everything from baseball to Charley Parker, "the great bird of jazz." His poetic creed is "I dig everything swinging (thinking as I do: art is frozen Zen)." His best known works are "Elegies and Celebrations" and "Jammin the Greek Scene."

Mr. Williams was presented through the combined efforts of Dr. Kinter of the English Department and the IGNIS literary magazine.

An interesting technique that Mr. Williams uses for some of his poems is to listen to symphony music via earphones and simultaneously write his poetry. Another is to deal out cards with words on them.

Rohleder, Bob Kammer, and Bill

Spectroscopy Methods Chemistry Club Topic

By Mike Riley

Dan Sullivan, a senior Chemistry major, will address the Chemistry Club on attenuated total reflectance spectra on Wednesday, December 16, at 11:00 a.m. in S 210.

The methods of spectroscopy offer the chemist a very efficient means of identifying specimens, as well as yielding much information of their properties. All students are invited to attend.

Mendel Biology Club Plans Field Trip

By Mike Riley

The Mendel Biological Society has planned a trip to the atomic-powered electric generating station at Peach Bottom, Pennsylvania.

The trip is scheduled for Saturday, December 19, and the group will leave from Loyola at 10 a.m.

The trip will include a tour and explanation of the plant.

Anyone interested in attending should contact senior John Mitchering of the Biology Club for further details.

POSTBEAT . . . Jonathan Williams (right) prepares his readings under the scholastic eye of Dr. Kinter.

Guest Editorial SC, ASO, Faculty Game

With all due regard to the faculty of Loyola College, I find it a disappointment to see such an event, or lack thereof, occur as happened early last week. The President of the Senior Class, Donald Rohleder, attempted to assist the solution of two serious problems existing on campus, the lack of close student-faculty relations and the lack of campus "spirit." He did so by inviting some of the faculty to play a basketball game against the Student Council and A.S.O. members on Tuesday evening preceding the Loyola Georgetown game.

Rohleder's aim was to bring the students and faculty together in an informal atmosphere while at the same time to gain support for the Greyhounds in their efforts against Georgetown, and thus hopefully to excite interest in the team for the remainder of the season. This event never materialized.

Although some faculty members have such busy schedules as to make their presence at such a function impossible or difficult, it does not seem quite probable that a minimum of ten faculty members could not have honored the invitation to play in this basketball game. Granted that such attempts at solving campus problems must be assisted by students themselves, the faculty, I think, should meet their responsibility as those who set example. They certainly could have said that they had done their parts if they had accepted such an invitation.

I should but respectfully urge the faculty in future items to respond favorably to suggestions made by student leaders which could prove even remotely pertinent to the solution of existing campus problems. I welcome verbal or written comments on my remarks.

Charles J. Schleupner
President, Sophomore Class

The Readers' Right

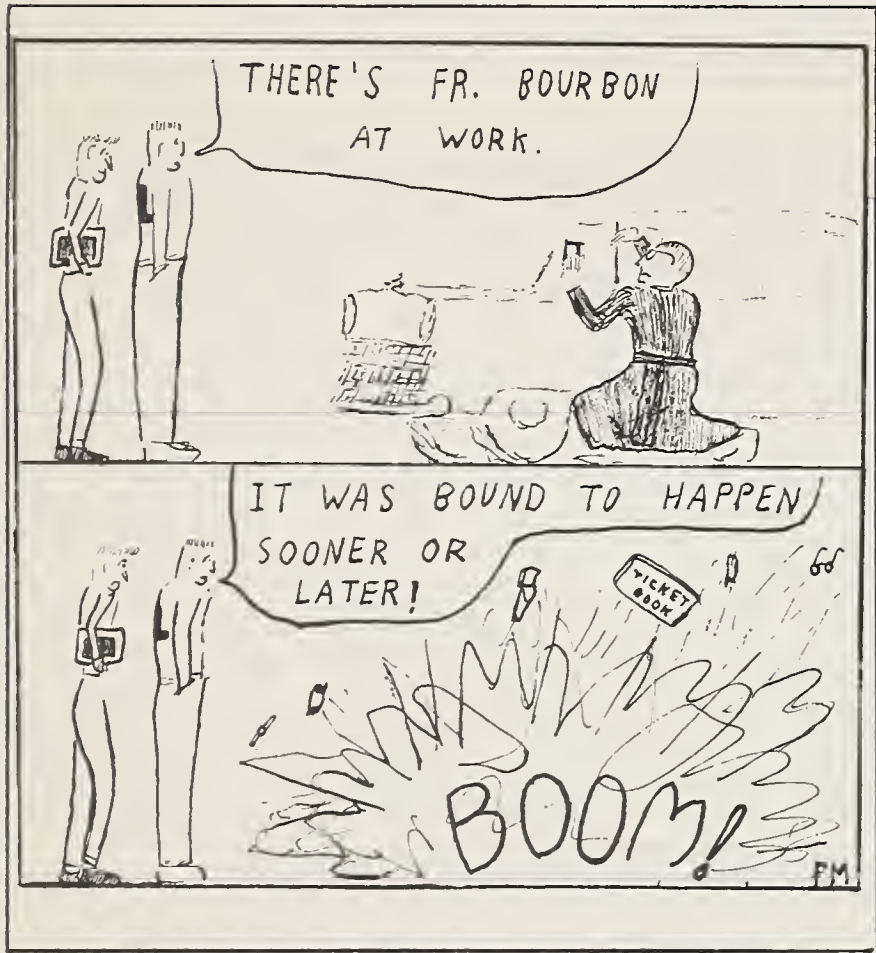

Dear Editor:

I have just read the letter written by Doctor Zaharis, published in the December 4 issue of The GREYHOUND.

I had extreme difficulty, even after several readings of the "Watch-dog?" article in question, in finding any reference which could possibly be applied or thought to be referring to Doctor Zaharis or to any other member of the teaching body.

It is also my belief that The GREYHOUND is primarily a student publication for the student body, and that any reference to the faculty and administration is well within its rights, considering the fact that the paper is usually quite heavily censored before it goes into print.

Robert Bode, '66

The Greyhound

Vol. XXXVII No. 10

December 11, 1964

Student publication of Loyola College, 4501 N. Charles St., Baltimore, Maryland 21210. Telephone MD 5-2500, Extension 51. Published weekly during regular day sessions.

Entered as second-class matter and postage paid at the Baltimore City Maryland Post Office.

The GREYHOUND is a publication by and for the students of Loyola College. The opinions expressed are not necessarily the views of the Administration. Official pronouncements of the Administration will be so designated. Editorial opinions are those of the editorial board alone. Opinions of columnists are entirely their own and do not necessarily represent the opinions of the editors.

Editor-in-Chief: Pete Mastrangelo, '65

News Editor: Fritz Aumann, '66; Features Editor: Gary Atkinson, '66; Sports Editor: Dan Whalen, '66; Rewrite Editor: Rea Keech, '65; Copy Editor: John Cantalupo, '66; Business Manager: Jim Eckstein, '65; Circulation Manager: Mark Fayman, '65; Faculty Moderator: Father William King, S.J.

Ass't News Editor: Tim Hynes, '68; Ass't Features Editor: Al Seeber, '67; Ass't Sports Editor: Fred Dumser, '67.

Rewrite Staff: Tom Keech, '68; Tom Hartke, '68; Brooke Appler, '65; Jim Larchford, '65; Bob Quirk, '65.

Photography Staff: Dan Whalen (editor), '66; Frank Moritz, '66; Dick Kraft, '66; Dick France, '65.

Observations:

S.A.C. Reports On Investigations

By Stuart Schoenfeld

The Student Activities Committee of Loyola's Student Council has investigated several extra and co-curricular activities this year.

It was the feeling of last year's Student Council that it should concern itself with improving the activities on campus. The Council passed an amendment setting up the S.A.C., with powers to investigate college activities and make recommendations to the administration.

Charlie Schleupner reported on the International Relations Club to the Student Council on November 11. Charlie recommended an increase in the I.R.C. budget from $450 to $600.

Budget Boost

The increase was recommended in order to assist the I.R.C. in getting better-known speakers for their meetings, and to help send more students to conventions involving international affairs.

On November 20 three students reported the results of the investigation of three more college activities.

Charlie Schleupner gave the report on the Classics Academy. The Academy had given Charlie a list of eight members and listed Dr. P. Edward Kaltenbach, professor of Classics, as its moderator. The club has had only one meeting this year, even though it had planned to have two per semester.

Charlie, in his report, recommended that the activity be continued, on condition that they draw up a constitution. When the Student Council receives a written report on the Classics Club, it will decide whether or not it favors the continuance of the club.

Bill Scholtes reported on the EVERGREEN ANNUAL. He noted many improvements in the yearbook. The report credited David Schroeder, editor of the annual, and Dan Whalen, associate editor, for the improvements.

Eta Sigma Phi

Charlie Schleupner reported again, this time on Eta Sigma Phi. Eta Sigma Phi is the honorary classics fraternity on campus. It has only two members.

Charlie's report favored maintaining the fraternity because it is an honor to have a chapter of this national society on Loyola's campus. The Council will give its opinion when it receives a written report on Eta Sigma Phi.

Choristers Needed

Father Murphy has announced that a number of students are needed to compose the Choir that yearly sings the Midnight Mass in the Student's Chapel on Christmas.

This year the choir will be supplemented by several members of the Jesuit Choir at Woodstock.

Interested students are asked to check the bulletin boards in the Student Center for information.

Jonathan Williams reading his poetry in Xavier Lounge Wednesday.

For the Elite Foghorn Concert Features White

By Bob Kujawa

Josh White, generally acknowledged to be the dean of American Negro folk singers, will appear from December 14 to 20 at the Foghorn Folk Center, 103 West 22nd Street.

Josh White is primarily concerned with the problems of his people, and for the last thirty years, has sold in ballad form their often bitter and rebellious feelings.

A self-taught guitarist, White employs a complex style requiring the use of all five fingers of the right hand.

In recent years Josh has penetrated the sophisticated night club audiences in this country, and the concert stage in all parts of the world. In fact, President Roosevelt once invited him to entertain at the White House. He has also performed privately for many of the crowned heads of Europe.

Through all this commercial and critical success, however, he has to preserve his role as a spokesman for the common man; and his songs, whether deeply moving or sharply cynical, are still the songs of the people.

During this cabaret-concert engagement, there will be a special schedule of showtimes: Monday through Thursday there will be two shows, at 8:30 and 10:30. Friday and Saturday there will be an additional late show at 12:30.

Reserved seat tickets are available now at the Foghorn on a first come first served basis. Reservations may also be obtained by mail or by calling 685-0685. Prices are $2.00 per show Monday through Thursday, $2.50 per show Friday and Saturday.

Josh White

The Readers' Right

Dear Editor:

The Dog has been house-cleaning lately and is greatly embarrassed by the fact that not even a white tornado could remove the stains from its hydrant.

It had been rumored that "crash" Keating had an accident last week because he refused to release his clutch.

Junior Frank Moritz is truly a highbrow; unfortunately hair specialists can't do too much about it.

Monday was Denny Hupp's 21st birthday. That afternoon he entered the Elite very optimistically and came out very misty optically. Bernie Vondersmith also had a 21st birthday--finally. After some prodigious quaffing he walked out, looked in the car mirror and mused: "Are Blondes or Blends more fun?"

Adam's and Eve's mode gave rise to many of modernity's necessities: the lend-leaf system, fore-runners of modern tuxedo rental; the loose-leaf system; Whitman's "Leafs of Grass," and many others.

In Biblical days it was considered a miracle for an ass to speak--times sure have changed.

Loyola R.O.T.C. unit has instituted a flight program for those cadets who are of no earthly service.

Suave Dave Schroeder tells us that modern girls may be affected but they don't put on much.

The Dog heard the rumor that Fr. Martin, the Student Counsellor, has calmed many nervous students with: "There is no use worrying about life because you'll never leave it alive."

Signed, William Worstwords

The Reviewing Stand 'Girl With Green Eyes' Cinematic Masterpiece

By Tony Rash

"The Girl With Green Eyes" is the rather simple story of a young girl's growth to maturity through the experience of love.

Kate (Rita Treshingham) and her roommate Boha (Lynne Redgrove) are two young country lasses living and working in the big city of Dublin. Kate had been in the convent but the cloistered life was incompatible with her inquisitive nature.

Both girls are over-anxious experience-hunters. The camera focuses its attention, however, on Kate, who enters into an entirely different adult world when she meets a writer, Eugene (Peter Finch), twice her age. Eugene and Kate come to know and love each other with great intimacy. Although he is a divorced man with a child, Catholic Kate rushes into marriage. The result is frustration and disappointment for herself and for Eugene.

Eugene, as realistic as Kate is romantic, begins to sense something-- namely, that her love for him is but a passing phase in her transition from girlhood to womanhood.

Uneasy in attempting to live the sophisticated life of an artist's wife, she leaves him and departs with Boha to London. The acting of all the main characters is superb in emotional scenes such as Kate's departure.

Tony "Tom Jones" Richardson's production of "Green Eyes" is very creditable. The film possesses the ingredients of a cinematic masterpiece--ingenious direction (by Desmond Davis), unique use of the camera, and excellent acting.

Miss Trishingham surpasses her highly praised performance in "Taste of Honey," with her genuine and brilliant portrayal of the adolescent Irish girl, Kate.

Don't miss this artful film at the Playhouse Theatre.

Albert Pick, Jr. speaks on Cuba during Batista's regime.

The Watchdog?!

In the spirit of fair play, "The Watchdog" gives Dr. Fisher of the Biology Department equal space.

Editor of The GREYHOUND:

I trust this letter is addressed to the proper person or persons. There is some doubt in my mind inasmuch as The GREYHOUND states that editorial opinions are those of the editorial board alone, but also states that opinions of columnists are entirely their own and do not necessarily represent the opinions of the editors.

The column entitled "The Watchdog" which appeared in The GREYHOUND, November 20, 1964, was unsigned. Therefore, there is a doubt in my mind as to whether this column was authored by one individual, editor or otherwise, or several individuals, editors or otherwise.

In any event, I address my remarks to the author or authors of "The Watchdog" which appeared in The GREYHOUND, November 20, 1964.

Watchdog Questions

"The Watchdog" poses the following questions: "Where else in the world can a man stand alone with his thoughts and glory in the magnificent sunset as reflected off the roof of the Butler Building?" "How many college students, other than those at Loyola, can brag about being able to watch, simultaneously, a lacrosse game, a basketball game, and a track meet, while sitting in the same grandstand?"

Simple Solutions

I interpret these remarks to indicate that "The Watchdog" views some of the facilities of Loyola with dissatisfaction. There is a very simple solution to the column's displeasure with the Butler Building. A substantial increase in tuition would be a very simple way to build new buildings that would be more pleasing to the senses.

Another simple solution would be for the present student body to contribute substantially to the current Development Program of the college. Certainly the student body is aware of this program, but, to date, student participation is represented only by the graduating class of the Evening Division, 1964, which contributed $500.

Athletic Facilities

As regards the athletic facilities, it has been my observation that the student body has demonstrated in a most emphatic way their complete indifference to the majority of Loyola's teams. Attendance at most games, meets, etc., certainly could not be interpreted as encouraging.

Parking Facilities

As regards parking facilities at the college, has "The Watchdog" overlooked the fact that relief for this situation is in the making via the purchase of additional land from Johns Hopkins University? I must admit that this does not solve the immediate problem, but few problems are settled overnight.

It took eight years to negotiate the deal with Hopkins. Further, it seems to me that the students at Loyola are fortunate indeed to have cars to drive. It may interest "The Watchdog" to know that as Chairman of the Evergreen Fund, I have on several occasions been told that an alumnus would not contribute to the fund because the college was not charging enough tuition.

Students Fine Cars

The opinions of many alumni are that if the students can afford to drive such fine cars, they should be able to pay higher tuitions and therefore contributions should not be necessary from the alumni. Again, it seems that a simple solution to this problem is higher tuition.

College Administration

All of the above, however, is not too important as compared to the following statement of "The Watchdog": "What other college administration stands behind its students, ever so closely, giving them the advice and encouragement needed to usher them through these difficult years of adulthood? Yes, the Loyola man graduates well prepared--if he ever decides to go to college."

Ignorant Statement

If ever a statement was made out of ignorance, this is it. If "The Watchdog" had taken the trouble, the following information could have been developed and prevented the enunciation of the asinine remarks cited in the previous paragraph. I would like, then, to call the attention of the author or authors of "The Watchdog" to the following information.

Alumni Records

As of 1962, the college had on record the names and addresses of 4945 alumni. Detailed information was available on 3297 of these alumni. I am sure that even "The Watchdog" will admit that this number would represent a fairly good cross section of the alumni body. As regards the preparedness of Loyola men, "The Watchdog" would do well to note the occupations of these alumni:

BUSINESS:		COMMUNICATIONS:
Accounting	118	Newspaper
Advertising	5	Writer	6
Banking and Finance	98	Editor	5
Construction	4	Reporter	3
Insurance	148	Periodicals
Management	225	Writer	4
Merchandising	30	Editor	7
Public Relations	5	Radio and TV
Public Utilities	49	Producer	3
Real Estate	23	Broadcaster	6
Sales	240	Total	34
Transportation	33	ENTERTAINMENT AND CREATIVE
Total	978	ARTS:
CLERGY AND RELIGIOUS:		Architecture	1
Bishops	1	Music	5
Diocesan Priests	70	Painting	1
Order Priests	52	Sculpture	1
Brothers	45	Stage	1
Sisters	33	Total	9
Protestant Ministry	12	GOVERNMENT AND SOCIAL WORK:
Jewish Ministry	17	Federal	232
Total	230	State	56
EDUCATION:		Local	34
Administration		Social Agencies	20
Primary	26	Total	342
Secondary	40	HEALTH:
Higher	18	Physicians and Surgeons	206
Teaching		Dentists	70
Primary	31	Pharmacists	9
Secondary	113	Opticians, Optometrists	4
Higher	75	Nurses	2
Total	303	Veterinarians	3

INFAMOUS . . . Butler Building got its name from the company that built it—the Butler Manufacturing Company.

Research	7	low the many colleges, universi-
Total	301	ties, etc., to which Loyola men have

INDUSTRY:

Production	142	Akron Law School
Management	175	Alabama Polytechnic Institute
Research	166	American University
Total	483	Boston College

LAW:

Private Practice	112	Balto. College of Dental Surgery
Law Firms	122	Balto. Col. of Physicians & Surgeons
Judicial Office	15	Babson Institute

MILITARY CAREERS:

U.S. Army	22	Baltimore College of Commerce
U.S. Navy	25	Balto. College of Dental Surgery
U.S. Marine Corps	2	Balto. Col. of Physicians & Surgeons
U.S. Air Force	16	Babson Institute
U.S. Coast Guard	1	Baltimore Junior College
Total	66	Baltimore Medical College

STUDENT STATUS:

Graduate School	64	Brothers School, St. Louis
Seminary	24	Cambridge University, England
Medical School	36	Carnegie Institute of Technology
Dental School	13	Clark University
Law	26	Columbia University
Engineering	3	Cornell University
Total	166	Catholic University
Students in the Service	131	Dartmouth College

Now as regards the decision of Loyola men to go to college, the following information should be of interest to "The Watchdog."

As of graduation dates in 1961, the following is a list of degrees known to have been conferred by other institutions on now living Loyola College alumni and former students:

AB	62	George Washington University
BBA	3	Hunter College
BChE	2	Holy Cross College
BD	6	Howard University
BE	20	Hagerstown Junior College
BFA	1	Hahnemann Medical College
BS	101	Harvard University
BSFS	3	Johns Hopkins University
DD	1	Kings Point College
DDS	69	Loyola Evening College
DE	2	Lehigh University
DED	4	Lancaster Seminary
JCB	1	La Salle College
JCL	1	Loughborough Technical Col., Eng.
LLB	316	Loyola University, New Orleans
LLD	1	Marquette University
LLM	7	Mass. College of Optometry
MA	97	McCoy College
MBA	19	Maryland Institute
MD	218	Mary Immaculate Seminary
MEd	11	Mass. Institute of Technology
MPL	1	Mt. St. Mary's College
MS	78	Mt. St. Mary's Seminary
MSLS	4	Mt. Vernon Law School
PhD	66	North American College, Rome
PhL	8	Northern Ill. Col. of Optometry
ScD	1	National University
SJD	1	Northwestern University
STB	12	New York University
STD	5	Ohio State University
STL	15	Phila. Col. of Osteopathy & Surgery
STM	2	Purdue University
VMD	2	Princeton University
Other	19	Pennsylvania State University
Total	1159	Rock Hill College
		Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute
		Rutgers University
		Strayers Business College
		Southern Baptist Theological Sem.
		Spring Hill College
		St. Francis Xavier U., Nova Scotia

CONTINUE READING

Now it may also interest "The Watchdog" to know what institutions these alumni successfully attended. I have, therefore, listed be-

St. Francis Xavier, New York
Stevens Institute of Technology
St. John's College, Annapolis
St. John's U., Brooklyn
St. Lawrence Seminary
St. Mary's Seminary
St. Mary's University
St. Peter's College
State Teachers College, Towson
Shuntetu University, China
St. Vincent's Seminary
Tex. Agricultural & Mechanical Col
Trinity College, Dublin
Trinity College, Conn.
Tulane University
Temple University
U. of Baltimore
U. of Berlin
U. of Buffalo
U. of Chicago
U. of Cincinnati
U. of Delaware
U. of Detroit
U. of Florida
U. of Heidelberg
U. of Illinois
U. of Leipzig
U. of Leeds, Eng.
U. of Loyola, Los Angeles
U. of Montreal
U. of Maryland
U. of Michigan
U. of Notre Dame
U. of New Hampshire
U. of New Mexico
U. of Oregon
U. of Paris
U. of Pennsylvania
U. of Pittsburgh
U. of Prague
U. of Richmond
U. of Rochester
U. of Santiago, Chile
U. of Syracuse
U. of Southern California
U. S. Military Academy
U. S. Merchant Marine Academy
U. S. Naval Academy
U. S. Naval War College
U. of Tampa
U. of Vienna, Italy
U. of Virginia
U. of Washington
U. of West Virginia
Vanderbilt University
Villanova University
Virginia Theological Seminary
William and Mary College
Washington College
Woodstock College
Wheeling College
Wesleyan College
Western Reserve University
Westminster Theological Seminary
Yale University

As regards students paying their debt to society, let me state that the education that a Loyola student receives costs more than the tuition paid.

In a recent survey which I made, I found that the current deficit per student per year is approximately $250.

It might be well for "The Watchdog" to advise their fellow students of this fact rather than resort to childish and petty sarcasm.

Availability

It is my sincere hope that the information contained in this letter may be made available to the student body in some way.

It is also my sincere hope that the cynical attitude of "The Watchdog" is not shared by the student body as a whole.

If it is, the outstanding achievements of Loyola men of the past will be an epilogue rather than a prologue.

Dr. Jacob Fisher, '49

ELITE PARKING . . . off Charles Street—not off York Road.

Maher Scores 24 Points; Dutchmen Top Hounds

Story and Photos by John Sherwood

Billy Morris heaves one.

Last weekend the Greyhounds journeyed to New York for a three-day stand.

On returning from the trip the Hounds' record stood at 0-4 as the hoopsters dropped three successive games to Fordham, Seton Hall, and Hofstra.

Thursday night saw Loyola in the Bronx where they took on Fordham University. Playing before an opening night crowd of approximately 2500 Fordham fans, the Hounds jumped to an early lead until with 5:43 left in the first half, Bob Lister completed his eighth straight point for the Hounds to put them ahead 32-31. The lead was only momentary and the Rams of Fordham opened the score to 46-38 at the half.

The opening minutes of the second half saw 6' 4" Ken McCabe foul out with only five points. Junior Larry Stevenson completed five shots from the floor and went four for five from the charity line to help the Hound cause, but this was not enough as Fordham moved ahead.

At one point the Rams were scoreless from the floor but made ten consecutive points from the foul line. In the closing minutes captain Marty Maher fouled out with 18 points, the high for the night for Loyola.

John Stevens led the hosts with 31 points as the final score stood at 96-74.

Friday night the team travelled to South Orange, N. J. where they played Seton Hall before another opening night crowd, numbering about 3400.

The Pirates held the Hounds scoreless until 4:11 into the half when Billy Morris completed a charity toss. The first half saw Tom O'Hara come alive and connect for 11 points to move the Hounds' score to 20-31. Bob Lister put Loyola in the lead with 30 seconds remaining but the Hall completed one more bucket and the score stood at 36-35 Seton Hall.

The Loyolans tied the score in the first minute of play of the second half and moved into a momentary lead but the Pirates out-rebounded the Hounds, pulling in 38 in the second half opposed to Loyola's 20.

Larry Stevenson left the game with nine minutes to go in the game because of a neck injury. Marty Maher was high for the losers with 16, while Richie Dec led all scorers with 24. The final score was 90-77 Seton Hall.

Saturday found the Hounds at Hempstead, Long Island, where they bowed to Hofstra College, 99-90.

The Flying Dutchmen moved out to an early lead but the Hounds were able to come close a couple of times on the combined efforts of Marty Maher and Billy Morris, who accounted for 21 of Loyola's 31 points in the first half.

At the opening of the second half the score was 47-31. But the Hounds sparked to life as Maher, McCabe, and O'Hara all hit double figures for the half, and Bill Devaney and Billy Morris combined for 15 points. The effect was not enough, however, as the hosts completed 40% of their shots from the floor in the second half and resisted a Hound effort in the last four minutes.

Marty Maher completed 14 of 16 charity tosses to lead the Loyola scorers with 24 points. Tom O'Hara had 17.

Kenny McCabe goes up for Loyola.

Intramurals

Strong Far Tars Stifle Porky Pigs

By Mario Musotto

The Far Tars remained undefeated as they won their fourth consecutive game with a come-from-behind victory over the Porky pigs, 18- 3.

The first time the Far Tars had the ball they drove for a score. Bob Garvey made a good catch of Dick Higden's pass in the end zone to give the Far Tars a 6-0 lead.

This lead was extended a couple of plays later as Bob Garvey intercepted Bob Rossi's pass and raced to the end zone.

Bob Rossi, the Pigs' quarterback, then got the Pig offense moving. Bob hit Marty Pilochowski who made a diving catch to score the Pigs' first touchdown. Gary Abrams caught a pass to score the extra point.

The Pigs continued to drive. Skip Seward grabbed a Rossi pass and was stopped just short of the Far Tar goal. Rossi then hit Gene Lacey for the score to put the Pigs out in front 13-12.

After both teams exchanged the ball several times, the Far Tars gained control with three minutes left in the game.

The Pigs missed several chances at interceptions, and these miscues kept alive the last Far Tar drive.

On fourth down Higdon rolled left and threw right to John Cashour in the end zone for the winning score.

In other action the Animals remained in contention with a 13-6 victory over the Wooms.

The Animal offense was held in check until Jack Sweeney ran around left end to give the Animals good field position. On the next play Sweeney threw to Spike Snyder for the touchdown. On the last play of the first half, Sweeney intercepted a pass and ran in for the touchdown.

The sophomore Wooms put on a good second half rush and forced the Animal quarterback to throw on the run.

The Wooms were successful in shutting out the Animals in the second half. While the defense held the Animals, Tom Magrogan moved the offense.

Tom culminated a drive by hitting John White for a touchdown. The Wooms had a chance to win the last time they had the ball, but time ran out.

Sea Dogs Travel To Delaware

By Joe Doyle

This Saturday the swimming team journeys to the University of Delaware where it engages the Blue Hens in its first major test of the season.

The result of this meet will be highly indicative of how the team will fair this season.

Delaware should pose still competition for they have a large number of lettermen returning from last year's team.

Loyola will depend on co-Captains Skip Seward and Joe Doyle along with junior Charlie Krapp, sophomore Murray Stephens and the breast stroke combo of Bob St. Ours and Bill Bullough to carry the brunt of the Hound's scoring.

Coach Pierce will be eagerly watching the performances of newcomers John Prior, Ed Rycowski, and Ed Dick.

The team has temporarily lost the service of junior Harry "Crazy" Devlin, due to an appendicitis attack, but he is expected to return to action next week.

This year's schedule pits the Hounds against a strong array of teams highlighted by LaSalle, American University, and last year's Mason-Dixon champs, Catholic University.

The sea-dogs are aware of these powerhouses but are not overawed and feel that with an extra effort they can make a respectable challenge to all comers.

Len Eiswert tickles Jim Flynn.

Palmer And Petroniero Honored As All M-D

By Bob Quirk

At its opening practice session, the wrestling team had one of the largest turnouts in its history.

Seven members from last year's team returned and four of them are lettermen. Bish Baker returns for his fourth year as the captain of the squad. Along with Baker, two other seasoned veterans, Colin Delphi and Leonard Eiswert, both medal winners in last season's Mason-Dixon championships, will return to constitute the core of this year's team.

After their first season of competition last year, Mike Moran and Jim lampieri should supply the depth necessary to make the Hounds a powerful contender in the Mason-Dixon Conference.

Beginning his fourth season as coach, Charlie Carey has expressed his pleasure with the fourteen freshmen candidates. The most impressive fact about this number of freshmen is that all have had some previous experience in the sport, and all are strong, fast boys.

Two freshmen have been impressive in the early workouts: Jim Hember and Jim Flynn, veterans of Mt. St. Joe's and Loyolas wrestling teams respectively.

Conference champions, Old Dominion of Norfolk, Va., will probably be the team to beat this year.

The University of Baltimore and Towson State College, powerhouses in the Mason-Dixon Conference for the past few years, along with Old Dominion and Loyola, will most likely be the top contenders for the coming season.

The Hound matmen's opener is in the not-too-distant future, January 9, 1965. The time between now and then will be filled with practice and the ordeals of preparing a strongly competitive team for the first meet which will be at American University.

Hound Matmen Begin 1964-1965 Practice Session

By Dan Whalen

Although the Mason-Dixon Conference soccer championship was won by Washington College this year, Loyola College placed two men on the all-league team: Vince Petroniero, at fullback, and Jack Palmer, line.

Jack Palmer, co-Captain of this year's team, accounted for five of the seven goals scored in conference play by the Hound booters. Jack, a senior business major, will be missed next year.

Jack came to Loyola from Kenwood high school where he played soccer for three years. He started on the line for Loyola where he remained throughout his career except for a brief time spent at the halfback position.

Claiming the other all conference position for Loyola is Vince "the foot" Petroniero. Though his experience at Poly was at the halfback and line positions, Vince found himself in the Hound backfield, where his big foot distinguished him as one of the Mason-Dixon's best fullbacks.

Both Vince and Jack have gained previous honors for the efforts on the soccer field. Jack received honorable mention recognition last year. Vince was named to the All-South team in his sophomore year.

Coach Bullington says: "Congratulations are indeed in order to Jack and Vince for their achievements, although our praise is tinged with the regret that we won't find them in their usual starting positions next year."

CLEANED . . . is the word to describe the faculty dining room. But by whom, we ask?